

3Nexus Application Development

Your Results.
Our Commitment.

3Nexus team, comprising of seasoned engineers and PMPs, can realize your ideas at their initial stage and transform them into world-class products that are ready for market. We focus on every stage of your process including requirement analysis, design, implementation and testing. Our adaptation enables us to modify current architected, designed or implemented projects for further development.

We are committed towards balancing scope, time, resources and cost by applying effective planning. The scope is defined with detail specification regarding the goal to be accomplished, including quality of the end product. Milestones are set with a component to measure progress. Schedule is compressed or fast tracked to meet critical deadlines. Resources are leveled or allocated according to the needs in different phases of the project. Cost estimate, completion, and variance are analyzed to help in proper valuation of the project.

We seamlessly integrate and operate the various components of a development process just like a musical concert. You can choose to be the lead vocalist, an instrument player, a sound mixer, or the audience.

Our wide expertise in Integration Management, Risk Management and Communication Management allow us to undertake software development projects of various dimensions and implement them successfully. Our delivery models are based on strict PMP and CMMI best practices. While our Integration Management process allows us to handle change control, defect resolution, and release by repeatable steps, with our Risk Management process we closely monitor and mitigate risks that may derail the project. Our Communication Management empowers us to effectively convey a message to our clients as well as across multiple and complex matrix teams.

In all of our management and delivery methods, we incorporate your ideas and project specifications to bring out the best results for you.
